ALPHA TECHNOLOGIES SERVICES INC. EXPANDS CAPABILITIES IN SOUTHERN UNITED STATES

Bellingham, Wash. May 14, 2008 – A global leader in broadband power systems and member of The Alpha Group, Alpha Technologies Services, Inc. (ATS) has relocated its Garland, Texas repair facility to Dallas, nearly doubling the repair depot floor space.

“We are excited with the success of our Texas service depot over the last year,” said Fred Goodridge, Director of Technical Services at Alpha. “The achievements of this depot can be traced to two primary factors – the excellent reputation of the Alpha name and the high quality of service we are providing our customers. The expansion of the facility will continue that success.”

The ATS Dallas Depot is nearly 10,000 square feet allowing for more service capacity and further growth. In addition, the new location is closer to major shipping terminals and driving routes reducing the shipping costs and time associated with depot repairs.

“Customers like dealing directly with Alpha for their repairs,” said Goodridge, “especially on warranty items. By adding the Texas service depot we simplified the repair cycle reducing the burden on our customers.”
